JOHN Y. BROWN

Chairman of the Board

The trade of franchises that sent Irv Levin to the West Coast with the Buffalo Braves, and John Y. Brown to Boston and the Celtics was an unprecedented moment in the 32 year history of the National Basketball Association. But hardly a first for John Y. Brown!

Innovation and stunning success have been the hallmarks of the Celtics new Chairman of the Board, whether it be in business with Kentucky Fried Chicken, or in sports with the Kentucky Colonels of the ABA. In business, this native of Lexington, Kentucky, parlayed a modest investment of money and a shrewd appreciation of Col. Harlan Sanders and his fried chicken business, into a multi-million dollar enterprise, one of the nation's fast growing companies.

In basketball, this former U. of Kentucky varsity golfer and swimmer, took the Kentucky franchise in the ABA to the league title and a series of successful seasons. His clubs averaged 56 wins a year, a record matched only by the Boston Celtics of the early 70's. He also served as President of the ABA, handing over the reins of the club to his wife, the first female general manager in professional sports.

Young and energetic, Brown makes his home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. at his Golden beach home. He maintains residences in Kentucky, and now Boston.

Red Auerbach has called him "very knowledgeable in assessing basketball talent," and plans to use that knowledge in rebuilding the Celtics to the championship teams that featured one of Brown's oldest friends, Frank Ramsey.

Ramsey calls Brown, "The closet thing to Walter Brown you're ever likely to have in Boston." High praise indeed from a player who refused to have more than a handshake for a contract with the first Celtics owner.

Brown came within a whisper of running for the United States Senate from Kentucky, and holds politics open as a possible option in the future, along with a number of business enterprises. He is president of Lum's, another fast food enterprise, and is owner of several others.

He has also been active at his alma mater. It was Brown who convinced Fran Curci to take the head football coaching spot at Kentucky, and that school's football fortunes have flourished ever since. He also ran three extremely successful national telethons to raise money for the Democratic Party. They resulted in raising enough money to remove the 9.3 million debt.

As an owner, Brown has had more success in acquiring top flight player talent than anyone else in the game. For example, over the past three years he has added Moses Malone, Maurice Lucas, Caldwell Jones, Tom Owens, Billy Knight, Swen Nater and Nate Archibald to the rosters of his teams at a cost of but two players - George Johnson and Adrian Dantley - plus draft choices. His proven expertise in this area, combined with those of Red Auerbach, should make an unparalleled team, one that can return the Celtics to greatness.

HARRY T. MANGURIAN, JR.
Vice Chairman of the Board, Co-Owner

Harry T. Mangurian, Jr. is the fast-break personified. Whether his energies have been directed to business or pleasure, the ultimate results have carried his singular mark of success. As co-owner of the Boston Celtics with John Y. Brown, Mangurian brings an enthusiasm that has been apparent to many associates in business endeavors and sporting avocations. His interest not only parallels that of John Y., but enforces the combined ownership's unrelenting drive to place the word "champion" once again before the Boston Celtics.

Mangurian's achievements are a matter of record. Following his formal education in Rochester, N.Y., and three years of service in the U.S. Navy during World War II (Pacific Theater), he fostered and developed a national chain of retail furniture stores bearing his name which were ultimately merged with General Portland, Inc. Concurrently, he launched a successful contracting development and management firm, Drexel Properties, Inc., which has developed and marketed more than 10,000 co-operative and condominium construction, ware-housing and land development. His business career has encompassed many areas, including a majority ownership and control of The First National Banks of Rochester, which was recently sold.

As a sportsman, Mangurian has extensive holdings in thoroughbred racing and breeding and today enjoys watching his blue and beige Mockingbird Farm racing colors run at tracks throughout the United States. His breeding farm in Ocala is considered a model for the production and training of thoroughbred race horses.

He is presently the majority owner of the Memphis, Tennessee franchise of the North American Soccer League. The Memphis Rogues is a first-year soccer club which represented itself notably on the field of play.

His varied interests and holdings require traveling thousands of miles per month, a task made easier by using Southeastern Jet, his own charter Lear jet service which flies over one million air miles a year.

Born and raised in Rochester, he has repurchased control of the Mangurian's Furniture Stores in that city and during his prior ownership sponsored professional golf, bowling and basketball tournaments and exhibitions.

He is 50 years of age, and his hobbies include golf, tennis and skiing. He spends much of his time traveling with his beautiful wife, Dottie, a basketball enthusiast in her own right. They have two daughters and two grandsons.

He is genuinely and whole-heartedly involved in basketball, a fan's fan, so to speak, whom you'll see rising to his feet in moments of exuberance and burying his head in moments of frustrations.

These actions best reflect the nature of the man, for he combines a perception for detail with a strong determination evidenced through his constant pursuit of excellence. Basketball will literally feel his imprint.

K.C. JONES
Assistant Coach - Head Scout

When Satch Sanders was named coach of the Celtics, his first move was to contact old teammate and friend, K.C. Jones, to be his assistant and head scout. It was a master stroke. Jones was head coach of the Richmond All American Alliance team. He wasted no time reporting to his first love, Celtics and Boston.

K.C. is the perfect man to help restore the Green to its former greatness. He typifies the heart and soul of the champions. As a player he was the NBA's finest defensive man and when Bob Cousy packed it in, K.C. took over as the team's leading playmaker.

With him the Club and winning came first. His backcourt mate, Sam Jones, was one of the finest scorers in Celtic history. K.C. got the ball to the other Jones about every trip down the floor. Occasionally Tommy Heinsohn or Bill Russell were his targets. K.C. Jones never shot enough. So, with Cousy gone, and Bill Sharman gone, the spokes were missing, but the wheel remained intact. Championships continued to roll in. He played on eight World Championship teams in his nine years with the club.

Jones was drafted along with his college roommate, Bill Russell, in the 1956 draft along with Tommy Heinsohn. It was the beginning of the Celtic mystique.

K.C. and Bill Russell went to Melbourne that year and helped win the Gold Medal for this country. At San Francisco University, they were the leading pair in piling up 56 straight wins and two NCAA titles.

K.C. went into the Army, and didn't join the club until 1958 and immediately joined Sam Jones on the Green bench watching Bill Sharman and Cooz. It must have been the finest guard squad in basketball history.

Following his playing career, he coached at Brandeis, later joined Bill Sharman as an assistant at Los Angeles. In 1974-75 he took Washington to the finals of the playoffs, beating Boston along the way. He coached the Bullets for three seasons and amassed a 155-91 record. His No. 25 has been retired to the Garden rafters.

K.C. and his wife, Beverly, have four daughters and one son.

HARRY T. MANGURIAN, JR.

ARNOLD "RED" AUERBACH President and General Manager

"No one realizes what the Celtics have accomplished," Red Auerbach would say when he was coaching and the team was in a string of eight World Championships in nine years.

As a matter of fact, no one did until recently, when a club considered it a "dynasty" if it won two in a row.

The beauty of those championship runs, was the manner in which it was accomplished. Auerbach and Celts got last pick in the draft each Spring. Some of the spokes were changed (not many) but the wheel continued to roll. Despite their final choice each season, Boston managed to take such guys as Sam Jones, Tom Sanders, Gary Phillips, John Havlicek, Mel Counts, Jim Barnett, Mal Graham and Don Chaney. Even cuter were the old bodies Auerbach dug out of the NBA grave yard who helped the team to stay at the top of the heap. The list is long and honorable including Carl Braun, Wayne Embry, Bailey Howell, Clyde Lovellette, Willie Naulls, Andy Phillip, Arnie Risen, Fred Scolari, Emmette Bryant, Artie Williams, Bones McKinney, Tom Thacker and, best of all, Don Nelson. Nellie stuck around for eight years. All masterful moves.

Then there were the trades, No. 1 of which always will be the Bill Russell move, that backboned most of the championship drives. Later came Bailey Howell for Mel Counts, Paul Silas for nothing, Charlie Scott for Paul Westphal, which produced the 1976 championship and, of course, just to show he hadn't lost the touch, last year's deal that sent Scott to L.A. for Kermit Washington, Don Chaney, a first round draft choice, and money.

A gruff, no nonsense guy, Auerbach is a man of much loyalty. He looks after his men, even when they have played out the string, they, in turn, feel they belong to the club. Witness the playoffs when many of the old faces turn up to root the team home. It is no accident that so many of the Celtics are coaching today. Auerbach had something to do with each one of those people and their futures.

A Hall of Famer, Red was named Coach of the Year in 1964, was awarded the Boston Medal by Mayor John Collins the same year. He has spent most of his summers touring Europe, the Far East, the South Pacific, Africa, you name it, for the State Department. Each season in late August, he runs a basketball Camp (Milbrook) in Marshfield, Mass. and it is now used as the Rookie Camp.

He is native of Brooklyn, N.Y. and resides in Washington, D.C. with his wife Dorothy. The Auerbach's have two daughters, Nancy and Randy and one granddaughter Julie.

Red graduated from George Washington University and served 3½ years in the Navy during World War II. He coached the Washington Caps and the Tri City Hawks before coming to Boston in 1950. In his 20 years of coaching, Red's team scored 1,037 victories, the most in basketball history.

TOM "SATCH" SANDERS

Head Coach

"Basketball is my business."

And how was business last year, Mr. Sanders? "Last year was not a Celtic type year to put it mildly. With the return of our veterans and the influx of talented new but old names, we expect that this year will be a good one."

The Celtics' sixth coach in its 32 year history assessed the future thusly, "Because of the obvious offensive talents of the 1978-79 Celtics, we will attempt to exploit these strengths by running more. However, the training camp will be geared to improving our defensive game."

If the team works as hard as Satch, the Green banner will be waving near the top next season.

Tom also feels that if the club plays strong defense, the offense will take care of itself. With this thought in mind, Sanders made sure he procured the finest defensive man in Celtic history, K.C. Jones as his assistant.

At the time Satch took over the bench, Boston had held opponents under 100 points just twice. From then on opponents were limited to less than one hundred points on 16 occasions.

Sanders comes by his defensive philosophy naturally. As a cornerman with Boston, he took on all the best scorers on the other teams. Such men as Dolph Schayes, Bob Pettit, Jack Twyman, Willis Reed, Dave DeBusschere, Paul Arizin and Tom Meschery were all his personal property. Despite the heavy load at one end of the court, Satch averaged 9.6 ppg in a 13 year period with Boston. During that stretch he played on eight World Championship teams, all eight in a nine year stretch. His uniform No. 16 has been retired and waves in the Garden rafters.

After retiring as a player, Tom coached at Harvard for four years before returning as Tom Heinsohn's assistant last fall. He was the Celtics first draft choice in 1960 and captained New York University to the semi-finals of the NCAA. He became a full time starter with the Celts as a second year man.

He is married, has one daughter Simone and lives in Newton, Mass.

K.C. JONES
Assistant Coach - Head Scout

When Satch Sanders was named coach of the Celtics, his first move was to contact old teammate and friend, K.C. Jones, to be his assistant and head scout. It was a master stroke. Jones was head coach of the Richmond All American Alliance team. He wasted no time reporting to his first love, Celtics and Boston.

His No. 25 has been retired to the Garden rafters.

K.C. and his wife, Beverly, have four daughters and one son.

BOB MacKINNON
Assistant Coach—Scout

After five years with the Buffalo organization as Director of Player Personnel, Bob MacKinnon will bring his basketball talents to the Celtics this season.

"He'll be an enormous help to us in moulding the new players and old," K.C. Jones asserts. "He has a wealth of hoop knowledge acquired both in college and with the professionals as a player and coach."

MacKinnon was Head Coach at his Alma Mater, Canisius College in Buffalo, for 13½ years prior to joining the Braves in 1972. He started as an assistant there under another old Celtic, Gentleman John McCarthy. In 1974 Bob left the Braves to become Head Coach of the St. Louis Spirits of the ABA. After one season with the ABA, he returned to Buffalo in 1975.

A Dunkirk, New York native, Bob spent most of his life in Buffalo. He was one of the finest all around high school athletes in Western, New York in the '40's, earning honors in football, basketball and baseball. He played four years of varsity basketball at Canisius, captaining the team in his senior year.

He later played professional basketball with Syracuse of the NBA, and Utica of the American League. He was with the Brooklyn Dodgers organization for two seasons.

Bob and wife, Norma, have five children, Kim, Pam, Nancy, Bob and Lisa.

DAVID COWENS

Born — October 25, 1948
Birthplace — Newport, Kentucky
High School — Newport Catholic
College — Florida State '70
Height — 6 feet, 8 inches
Weight — 225 lbs.
Home — Cold Springs, Kentucky
Years Pro — 8 years
First Round Draft Choice in 1970

Rated one of the best, yet the smallest centers in the NBA, Dave Cowens carried the team as much as one man could a year ago. No accolades, please, since David feels that a basketball player is paid to do his best every night and when the game is over, he's just another joker through for the day. It's no wonder that Dave played the part of an ironman in 1977-78. He built himself up physically with a Nautilus gym and he's become very careful of what he eats. "You get out of your body what you put into it." During the season he eats vitamin pills and sticks to natural foods. Dave led the team in scoring and rebounding with a 16.3 ppg output and was third in the NBA rebounding with 14 grabs a game. What makes him effective is his outside shot, forcing the giants out from under. This may be an even more important factor this year with Marvin Barnes available to clean the boards. The talk is that Cowens-Barnes will rival the Cowens-Silas combine that brought two titles to Boston in '74 and '76. Cowens remains unimpressed with statistics. "You don't win games with stats," he asserts. "You win with determination and hustle!" It is no secret that Dave felt the team didn't play to its capacity a year ago. Nevertheless, he still gave it the big shot every night. A busy guy, Dave divides his summer months between two successful basketball schools about the country and his farm at Cold Springs, Kentucky. Resides in Wellesley during the season. In his eight years in the NBA, Cowens has appeared in the East-West All-Star Game six times (missing in 1977 due to a bad back) and has played magnificently, winning the MVP citation for his 15 points and 13 rebounds in 1973 after just missing the year before and hauled down 14 rebounds in the annual classic last year. He was the first Celtic since Tommy Heinsohn to win a rookie of the year award (he shared the distinction with Geoff Petrie in 1971) and the first since Bill Russell to win the Podoloff Cup as league most valuable player in 1972-73. A world traveler, Cowen has made frequent trips to the Far East, his most recent coming last summer when he and Kevin Stacom conducted a series of clinics in Japan. The Celtics' player representative, Cowens has been active in a number of charitable endeavors during the past few seasons.

JO JO WHITE

Born — November 16, 1946
Birthplace — St. Louis, Mo.
High School — McKinley of St. Louis
College — University of Kansas '69
Height — 6 feet, 3 inches
Weight — 197 lbs.
Home — Boston, Mass.
Years Pro — 9 years
First Round Draft Choice in 1969

The leader of the Celtics has been hurting for the past two years. Jo Jo White was on the floor for a year and a half of that time, but he was at 60% efficiency. A couple of hurting heels slowed the guy down to a walk. An operation in the spring healed the heels and he's ready to take over once more. Jo Jo enjoyed his finest season as a professional in 1975-76 and wound up as the MVP of the Playoffs. Despite his miseries, he led the team in scoring and assists in 1976-77, averaging 40.6 minutes a game. The team's best playmaker that year he picked up 492 assists, was the best foul shooter at .872 and hit from the floor for a .492 clip. Most of White's hoops are from the outside. Bob Cousy is an admirer of the man. "He makes the best passes in the league, knows when to release the ball and when to shoot it. He's got to be right for Boston to win!"...so says the former best playmaker in all of basketball. A fine all around athlete, Jo Jo was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys and the Cincinnati Reds. He and Charlie Scott made up the backcourt that brought the Gold to the United States at Mexico City in 1968. Last year was a disaster for White as he played but 46 games, yet he managed 14.5 ppg, was still the best foul shooter (.858) and collected 209 assists. During the summer months he goes back to Lawrence, Kansas for a month of basketball camp and then generally travels the rest of the time. He has been an All-Star game participant seven times, paced the Celtics in scoring twice and assists four times. Married, and father of three, Brian, 5, and a pair of twin girls, 8 months. Jo Jo was unable to play in the All-Star game last season due to the injuries. It was the first time he had missed the annual classic since his rookie year in 1969-70. Perhaps the most devastating result of the injury, however, was snapping his consecutive games played streak which dated back to January 15, 1972. White fought against the pain until January 31, 1978 when he attended but did not play in the Celtics' victory over Indiana at the Springfield Civic Center. His string, longest in Celtics history, ended at 488 games. He was the leader among active players in consecutive games played at the time and eclipsed the old record of 465 held by Don Nelson from January 30, 1967 to December 16, 1972.

NATE ARCHIBALD

Born — September 2, 1948
Birthplace — Harlem, N. Y.
High School — DeWitt Clinton, Bronx, N. Y.
College — U. of Texas, El Paso
Height — 6 feet, 1 inch
Weight — 165 lbs.
Years Pro — 8 years
Acquired as part of seven player swap, 1978.

When the Celtics acquired Nate Archibald as part of the big franchise swap with Buffalo, they inherited one of the most colorful and exciting players in the history of the NBA. Although "Tiny" (a nickname he picked up as a child) will be coming back from a series of severe injuries it's hoped he can play a key role in the Celtics return to dominance. Archibald missed the entire '77-78 season with an achilles tendon injury he received while scoring a game winning hoop for the Braves in their final exhibition game last year. A phenomenal offensive star, Tiny has been a first team all-star three times and a second stringer once during his 8 year NBA career. His best year came in the 1972-73 season when he became the first player to lead the league in scoring and assists in the same year with 34.0 ppg and 11.3 assists. He scored 1028 field goals that season for the Kings to become the first guard in NBA history to pass the 1000 figure barrier for a season. He's popped for a career average 24.8 ppg and had a one game high of 55. Tiny's strong points are his speed and quickness which combine to make him nearly unstoppable when he has the ball. He's also an exceptional passer who can get the ball to the open man. Nate played for former Celtic Bob Cousy when he coached for the Kings, and Nate gives Cooz a lot of credit for improving his game. A New York native, Archibald starred at DeWitt Clinton high school in the Bronx before attending the University of Texas at El Paso. Tiny resides on Long Island and spends much of his time working with youngsters in the New York City area. Very popular with the kids, Tiny received the Kansas City Advertising Club "Under 31" award for his work with inner city youth.

MARVIN BARNES

Born — July 27, 1952
Birthplace — Providence, R.I.
High School — Central of Providence
College — Providence '74
Height — 6 feet, 9 inches
Weight — 225 lbs.
Years Pro — 4 years
Acquired in seven-player swap, 1978.

A big man in the Celtics-Braves franchise trade, Marvin comes home to New England. A complete player with enormous potential that has not been fully tapped in his brief NBA career, Marvin could be the answer to a number of Celtic questions if he plays like they know he can. Barnes grew up in the Providence area and it's hoped that familiar surroundings and a recent marriage could be just the medicine to cure past ills. A Providence College star along with Kevin Stacom and Ernie DeGregorio, Marvin was Coach Dave Gavitt's power player. He consistently led the team in rebounds and in one season he had more boards than points. Was drafted #1 by the '76ers in 1974. Signed with The Spirits of St. Louis in '74 and played well enough to be the ABA Rookie of the Year. Was also an All-Star and second team All-ABA in 1974. In two seasons with The Spirits, Marvin hit for a tough 24.1 ppg in 144 ABA contests. Came into the NBA via the dispersal draft. Was the fourth player selected despite a $500,000 contract that was the second highest of all the players chosen. Had tough first year with the Detroit Pistons. A broken ankle that was incorrectly diagnosed as a sprain, a broken finger and dental problems all contributed to his difficulties in Detroit where he only appeared in 53 games. Traded to Buffalo on 11/23/77 in a deal that sent John Shumate and Gus Gerard to the Pistons, he played in 48 games for the Braves last year. He averaged 11.4 ppg and captured 348 caroms while playing 28 minutes a game. Great off court personality, Marvin has always been popular with the kids. Calls a game winning hoop an "ice cream shot", because that's when he buys the kids a round of ice cream cones. Marvin completed his degree requirements in 1977. He now holds a B.A. in history from Providence College. Recently married, Marvin and his bride Debbie reside in Boston. In an unprecedented move, Marvin asked Celtics owner John Y. Brown to delete the guarantee aspects from his contract to "make me hungry and play to my full potential." The 1978-79 season could be the most important in Marvin's career.

DON CHANEY

Born — March 22, 1946

Birthplace — Baton Rouge, Louisiana

High School — Mckinley of Baton Rouge

College — University of Houston '68

Height — 6 feet, 5 inches

Weight — 210 lbs.

Home — Brookline, Mass.

Years Pro — 10 years

Drafted No. 1 by Boston '68 — returned in deal for Charlie Scott, January, 1978.

The return of the Duck to the Celtics was of mutual benefit. For the team, because, as he regained his touch, he lifted them all defensively and offensively. And for Don, he returns to the team he played for in its championship years and of which he was an important cog. It may be that the Duck will be a swing man this season. Coach Sanders used him in that role last year and he looked promising. With the big wing spread and the good speed he could play the quick forward post and drop back in the guard slot when needed. He bought a home in Brookline, Mass. where he will reside with his wife Jacquie and their three youngsters. This past summer he was in Los Angeles and hometown Houston. In seven years of Celtic seasons he averaged 10.2 ppg, not bad for a guy who shot badly as a rookie. Don left the Green to try his luck with St. Louis in the ABA and then moved to Los Angeles when that league packed it in. He was a starter with the Lakers until a knee operation sidelined him. Prior to returning to Boston he broke a thumb. He came to the Celtics along with Kermit Washington for Charlie Scott in the middle of last year.

High School — Braddock H.S.

College — Pittsburgh '74

Height — 6 feet, 6 inches.

Weight — 195 lbs.

Home — Indianapolis, Indiana

Years Pro — 4 years

Acquired in seven-player swap, 1978.

Billy is one of the three new Celtics to come over from the Buffalo Braves with the ownership swap. He's looking forward to playing in Boston and returning to top form after an injury plagued '77-78 season that saw him miss 19 games. Always a consistent shooter from the field, Billy still managed to score 22.9 ppg for the Braves last season. In his first two NBA campaigns he has rattled in 49% of his shots from the field and hit 81% from the line to average 25.1 ppg. An illustrious past, Billy has been an All-Star in both the NBA ('76-77) and the ABA ('75-76). He was an all ABA forward along with Julius Erving after scoring at a 28.1 ppg clip in his second season with the Indiana Pacers. After the ABA folded and Indiana moved into the NBA, Knight continued to show his offensive might. He led the Pacers in minutes played (3117), field goal percentage (.493) and points (26.6) which was good enough for 2nd place in the '76-77 NBA scoring race. At 6ft., 6in., Knight will play a small forward most of the time for the Celtics but he can use his speed and versatility to play guard if the need arises. A big game player who rises to a challenge, Knight's playoff statistics look especially bright. In 21 ABA playoff games Knight has scored 25.5 ppg and hit a sparkling 57% from the field and 84% from the line. Billy was an All American at the University of Pittsburgh and was a first round choice of the Pacers in 1974. He was chosen in the second round of the NBA draft by the Lakers. A personable young man, Billy neither drinks nor smokes and remains a bachelor. The fourth oldest of an 11 children family, Bill has a younger brother, Terry, now playing at Pittsburgh.

CEDRIC MAXWELL

Born — November 21, 1955
Birthplace — Kinston, N.C.
High School — Kinston High School
College — North Carolina, Charlotte '77
Height — 6 feet, 8 inches
Weight — 205 lbs.

Years Pro — 1 year
Drafted on first round 1977

A bright spot from last year was the team's No. 1 pick Cedric Maxwell from North Carolina, Charlotte. The young, gangly guy played 1,273 minutes as a first year man, an unusual amount of time for a freshman. He managed a 7.6 ppg average and muscled with the best in the NBA. Coach Tom Sanders sent the personable guy back to Kinston, N.C. to start working on weights and practice his twenty foot pop shot. There was nothing the matter with Cedric's work inside. He displayed a great instinct for the basket when near there, but at the end of the year he was getting pushed outside by the sturdier guys in the league. "He shoots well from out," Sanders asserts, "but he'll be a better inside player when he gets even better from 15 to 20 feet. A little more muscle will help, too," the coach says. A good sense of humor helps Max through the season as he cheerfully did all the duties a rookie must perform in his first year. He carried the extra luggage on the road. He helped and laughed as the veterans kidded him. His credentials in college were great as he averaged 22.2 ppg and was the school's top scorer and rebounder. Took them to the semi-finals of the NCAA. Nickname Cornbread came from the resemblance to Jamaal Wilkes, who starred in a movie of that name. Was an instant favorite in Boston and never wore out his welcome. "If we had to draft again as of the Spring of 1977, we'd do the same thing again." Coach Sanders relates. At that time, Boston had their eyes on another rookie, but Maxwell looks like another sleeper. He is rated a future star of the league by players and coaches alike.

CURTIS ROWE

Born — July 2, 1949

High School — Fremont of Los Angeles

College — UCLA

Height — 6 feet, 7 inches

Weight — 225 lbs.

Home — Southfield, Michigan

Years Pro — 7 years

Acquired in three-way deal involving Paul Silas and Ralph Simpson, 1976.

After an injury-filled year for Curtis Rowe, the Celtics are hoping for a return to All-Star status. Curtis played in only 51 games for the Green in 77-78. Originally brought to Boston for his rebounding ability, he could be a big man on the boards this season if he can stay healthy and recover from a bad knee. Underwent knee surgery during the off-season to correct the nagging injury that cost him so much playing time. A mild mannered guy, Curtis backs away from no one when he's on the floor as several challengers in the NBA can attest. Usually guards the opponent's best forward and is noted for his aggressive, heads-up defense. Quick and agile for his size, Curtis has a reputation as a tough man to score on. Best shots in Rowe's repotoire are short hooks from the key, medium range jumpers and quick, kamakaze drives to the hoop. Came to the Celtics from Detroit in a triangular-trade that sent Paul Silas west to Denver and guard Ralph Simpson from Denver to Detroit. Cutis was highly recruited out of Fremont High in Los Angeles and he chose to stay home and play college ball for the Bruins of UCLA. Had three standout seasons under Coach John Wooden and was a member of a National Championship team in each of those three seasons...Drafted by Detroit in 1971, Rowe played five seasons in the Motor City but was not happy with the Pistons. The 1975-76 season was his best as a pro when he hit 51% from the floor for a 16 ppg average to go along with 9 rebounds a game. Was named to the 1976 All-Star team as a result. Curtis makes his off-season home in Southfield, Michigan where he lives with his wife Kathy and their two children.

College — Marquette '76

Height — 6 feet, 5 inches

Weight — 185 lbs.

Home — Los Angeles

Years Pro — 2 years

Acquired from Indiana Pacers 7/18/78 - for 1980 first draft pick and cash.

Earl spent his first year and a half of professional basketball in Laker regimentals and was traded (12/13/77) to Pacers along with Jim Edwards for Adrian Dantley and Dave Robisch. Scored at a 9.4 clip as a rookie. Averaged 14.4 as a sophomore - for a two year average 12.1 ppg. In the playoffs with the Lakers he averaged 13.6 in 11 games. He fired at a .462 percentage from the floor in two seasons. Slick Leonard, Pacer coach on Tatum, "Earl did a good job for us last year as a guard, but he really is more of a swingman." At Marquette, Al McGuire considers him "the finest player I ever coached." Tatum was the Lakers first choice in 1977, the 21st player chosen that year. He averaged 18.3 at Marquette. In seeking a quick guard, Tatum was the ideal man for the Celts. He ranks with Gus Williams, Seattle, and Doug Collins of Philadelphia as quick guard. At 6ft., 6in. and a fine shooter from 20 feet out, Tatum is likely to be used as a swing man in Boston. He's a 78.8% shooter from the line, averages 3.6 rebounds a game and contributes 4 assists a game.

Spent last summer playing in Sweden where he became the country's top scorer - 22 ppg. - and rebounder -15 a game...Earl is not the usual center man - he stands just 6ft. 7in., but weighs 230 lbs., and has muscles on his muscles...He was drafted in 1974 by Phoenix on third round and played 79 games for the Suns, averaging 4.7 ppg but took down 456 boards - which, if broken down to a 48 minutes per game record, would make him one of the best in the game....He was traded to Detroit for Willie Norwood May 28, 1974...He now makes his home in Detroit and spent much of the summer playing with and against Bob Lanier and Dave Bing. His play at rookie and free agent camp earned him the respect of his fellow players and all of the coaches...He is developing the outside shot to make him a good corner man...Is married and the father of two children. Earl's rebounding prowess is well documented. During a game at Boston Garden in his rookie season, he hauled down 25 rebounds on January 23, 1976 including 13 off the offensive boards. He was traded by his original club, the Phoenix Suns who drafted him third in 1974 to the Pistons for Willie Norwood. After a year in Detroit he played a game for the Nets and then went to Europe where he was one of the leading big men in what is becoming a most competitive situation when the European countries meet in playoffs at the end of the season.

For Biff Burrell, the past three years have been nomadic with stops in California, Arizona and Tampa Bay. A solid defensive guard with the USC Trojans, Biff did the tough, unsung job alongside the flashy Gus Williams in the backcourt. Drafted by Phoenix and San Diego of the ABA, he chose to try his luck with the other league and was waived by them at the end of training camp. Next he tried out the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as a defensive back despite the fact that he had no football background while in college. Tampa's coach John MacKay remembered Burrell as an outstanding athlete and took a chance on him and despite good reports, he was again a late cut. Trying to keep his hand in, Burrell played in the Mexican-American league for three months out of Nogales, Arizona. A star of the California Pro Summer League in 1977, then Celtics assistant coach Tom Sanders spotted him there and both he and Tom Heinsohn were most impressed with his speed and defense. Tendered an invitation to camp in 1977, Burrell suffered a leg injury and never reported. Completely healthy now, he was a hit of rookie camp and may be the answer to the Celtics' need for a tough defender on the backline.

CHUCKIE WILLIAMS

Born — December 31, 1953
Birthplace — Columbus, Ohio
High School — East High of Columbus
College — Kansas State '76
Home — Kansas City
Height — 6 feet, 3 inches
Weight — 180 lbs.
Years Pro — One year
Signed as a free agent, 1978

First draft choice of the Cleveland Cavaliers in 1976, Williams played one season with the Cavs only to be cut during training camp last summer. Since that time he has played in Richmond, Va. for the team K.C. Jones was to coach before he came to the Celtics last season and then in a summer league in Kansas City. He is still working on his administration degree at Kansas State and expects to finish that up when his playing days are over. A most impressive performer during rookie camp, he showed great speed and scoring touch including perhaps the best range of any guard in camp. Known as a scorer while in college, Williams scored at a 22.1 points per game clip in his junior year and 20.9 per outing as a senior. He was selected to the UPI All Big Eight and was an AP honorable mention All-America. Is well known to Boston College fans for his scoring feats against the Eagles during his college career. Had little playing time during his one pro season, appearing in only 22 games for a total of 65 minutes yet scoring 37 points.

DR. THOMAS SILVA

He's a 10-year veteran of the Celtics now and very important to the team (and opponent's) welfare. Dr. Tom Silva is the third man to take over the physical well being of the Celtics. His word is law to both the coach and Red Auerbach. If he says "no" then that player will not dress no matter how important the game. Dr. Silva was awarded his B.S. from Tufts University and a D.M.D. from Tufts Dental School. He received his M.D. from Boston University Medical School. He serves, also, as Chief Physician for all Boston University intercollegiate athletics and is a general surgeon at the University Hospital. He is married and the father of six.

JOHNNY MOST

As much a tradition as the team itself, Johnny Most has now been established "high above courtside" for the past 21 years. His following throughout New England is enormous for a guy born in Brooklyn. Make no mistake, John is a Celtic man and he lives and dies with the team. When John Havlicek snapped up an inbound pass in the playoffs, it was Most going crazy, screaming "Havlicek Stole the Ball" that inspired the famous record of the same name. He came to the team with credentials from the N.Y. Knicks, football Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, learning his trade from one of the best, Marty Glickman. He played the game at City College and during World War II, flew his missions, (Radio-gunner) in the ETO. He, wife Sandy, and their three children now reside in Wayland, Mass.

FRANK CHALLANT

Trainer

Frank is starting his eighth season as a Celtic and is the fourth to hold the position of trainer. He was pre-ceeded by Harvey Cohen, Buddy LeRoux and Joe De-Lauri. It was the latter who recommended Frank as his successor. Frank started his career as a trainer at his Alma Mater, Parsons College, and worked at Chelmsford High School and the New England Patriots. His is considered one of the best tape men in the NBA. A native of Swampscott and Swampscott High School, he first attended Springfield College before transferring to Parsons. He now resides in Bradford with wife, Ronna (also of Parsons College) and youngsters Michelle, 8, and David 5. He is a ardent fisherman, target shooter and boatsman.

ROGER TWIBELL

The newest face on the six and 11:00 news team at WBZ-TV, Roger Twibell, is also the new face behind the Celtics' mike as he takes over as play-by-play man for the departed Len Berman this season. Twibell hails from Kansas City but has worked at his craft in Miami (WTVJ) where he handled Miami Dolphins play-by-play, Dallas (KDFW), Portland, Ore., (KATU) and Tucson (KGUN). He is Sports Director at WBZ and also handled Patriots pre-season and Teamen telecasts this season.

BOB COUSY

The man with the Golden Arm, best known now for his Golden Throat, will be back at the Celtics television color mike for his fifth year. That all adds up to Bob Cousy, who for thirteen years dominated the NBA with his fast break, brilliant play making and scoring. During that skein, he was captain of seven World Championship teams. His farewell day here at the Garden was the most touching in two decades of hoop history. He wound up a winner too that year, bringing the Celtics back from the very edge and playing on a gimpy ankle. Following his playing career, he coached successfully at Boston College before taking over the reins at Cincinnati in the NBA. Aside from his complete knowledge of the game, he works harder at being prepared for his television work than any man in the field. He does twenty Celtic games a season over WBZ TV, some 25 more college games on Channel 27 and a number of Home Box Office telecasts back to New York. In addition the North American Soccer League calls him Commissioner. A two year All American and leader of the Holy Cross NCAA Champions of 1950, he now resides in Worcester with his wife, Missy, and a daughter, Tish. Another daughter, Marie, was married a year ago.
